When you feel bluest it's a good time to go to sleep

Boys will be boys, it's true but at the same time there's a difference between boys and outlaws

You never know just how many people are doing nothing particular (if a few alarms is sounded)

Usually, the fastest automobile drivers can't do anything when they get there.

You probably have noticed that there isn't the demand for good saddle horses that there once was

Manne can't do much in Democratic elections till a presidential year

Thaw got over, but it looks like a hard matter to get Sulzer and Murphy off the minds of the people.

New Hampshire would like to know what it has done to be afflicted with Thaw. It was merely the innocent bystander.

It is reported that Congress man Clayton favors a well proportioned navy, in his platform for the United States Senate

Pittsburg pretends that its smoke nuisance costs $10,000,000 a year. For that much, the city might do away with it

We suppose there is no hope of getting Judge Sullivan and Gov. O'Neal to meet on the stump any more

Nearly all the news papers print in news of mistakes of people. We will just keep on making them, too

We move here and now we exchange Thaw for Sister Pankhurst just long enough to see how each country likes a buck

No arrangements have been made in Atlanta for the coming of Mrs. Pankhurst. If she comes to this country and doesn't go to Atlanta there'll be a truck in it

If you ask the average good law year his opinion about a certain point he will usually tell you that he will have to look it up, unless it is a very common question

If Colonel Roosevelt does go to South America on a visit it is to be hoped that the populace will see an insurrection for his reception and be having a regular moving picture battle when he arrives

We predicted it some time ago, and Miss Katy, when brooding for man is threatening to come back but when thinking over the lot of poor calves to be exposed to public gaze, and the rigors of winter we have our doubts about their coming back, outside of the show.

THE MOTORMAN

By George Vitch

The motorman is the sad individual who occupies a few cubic inches of space among the smokers in the front vestibule of our schools and propels said cars by grinding a brass handle around and around

The motorman's sadness is not natural but is produced by artificial means. When he wakes in the morning he is happy and sings a merry roundelay as he grabs the controller and grinds out electricity like a housewife grinding coffee. But after he has waited a minute or a lady with four bundles who is trying to get in the wrong door and has been laid out on the switch by another car and has rung 189 times or a coal wagon to get off the track head, and has permanently dislocated himself trying to stop in order to save an automobile which is backing the wrong way, and has been asked by the dispatcher if he thinks it is running a heater instead of street car, he becomes morose and wishes that the world were small enough that he might pick it up ferried with one well directed blow

The motorman has to run his car down a narrow track in the middle of the street and miss every thing upon it. When we consider how few automobiles can go through a city street without hitting something far into space we cannot wonder that the motorman regards his job with gloom

The motorman is not always religious by nature but if it could be proven to him that Heaven was a place in which he could run street car as he pleased and bump and truck drivers into oblivion with out objection from anyone, he could become almost inconceivably devout

It takes about a month to hear of a become a full motorman. It takes several years to produce a good pair of motorman's lungs. A motorman must be able to resist pure tobacco smoke unadulterated with air. He cannot smoke while on duty but from ten to twenty men crowd into his compartment each morning and evening, and smoke for him. When a motorman has been on duty a few days he gets so homesick that he has to go into an air tight closet and burn an old rubber overcoat for relief

Motormen do not often become great but we should give them credit for not indulging in homicide, its most deleterious form

ALL FOR $5

A western editor hands this out to his local constituents. You have newspaper heralded to the world your birth. It told of your entry into school. Mentioned your birthday party when you were sixteen. Applauded your graduation from the high school. Mentioned you to colleges and when you returned mentioned the first job you secured. Told of your marriage to the sweetest girl in town, and also mentioned the advent (or event) of your first born. Look of the vista of you and me sympathized with you in your sorrow, laughed with you in your joy and when you told it will do its best to get you through the party gates, at only $5 a year.

BUT HE'S A GOOD ONE

Senator Cummings charges that the president is a dictator, and that Congress has become servile

About this we cannot tell but more than likely it's so

If it is so then it's alright. It is a dictator. He's a good one and the people are enjoying it

But even a great many Republicans are bragging on Wilson. They say he is making a million better president than this thoughtless Democrat could make. Very likely by the time we have elected another president, he will get more Republican votes than did Wilson

The grade crossing accidents reported in every daily paper you pick up would be enough to make a man want to stop looking and listen but his day of gasoline power the chance is taken. You may lose a railroad a thousand times and never meet a train there but when you start across the next time the train may be right in the way, and when a train is in the way of an automobile it's badly in the way.

A Savannah negro with liver was confined to a hospital when they were not watching slipped out and wandered away and hasn't been heard of. It may be at work when they find him locate him

Speak gently to your boy when he is just getting into long breeches and love. He is liable to have such a case of the later that he will suicide if his cylinders don't fire regularly, and his ignition system isn't working perfectly

Five wagons coming in from the country. One is hired to carry a loaded with his boxes of corn. A night on the street the other is. And the driver didn't look if they were worried by their pull. The food roads we have are going to prove that they are worth the money spent on them

You know it sometimes happens that you can run the other man's job better than he can. But you must remember that he is drawing the pay for it and thinks he knows how which thought is born out by the loss

The city of Rome can now rest easy. The town is peaceful and quiet. A law or an order requiring all employees of the place to pay their debts which would indicate that it hadn't been very well looked after in the past

Bill the Spro

The Cuban Journal hits the spot on this. Why not have some of our indignation which is being directed against the white slave traffic and direct it to the index card dress of young women

You couldn't call it indecent and get away with it. It is just a sign of the times and shows the best cap then a few daughters or five will show the best cap

Good Advice for All Countries

An advice to the voters of Tennessee is to vote for no man who does not pledge himself to reduction of expenses of the state government. It does not matter if he is your personal friend with whom you have hunted and played and blown if he has no feeling for you and your family he is certainly not your friend so let him vote for the man that at least he stands for a more economical running of our government

Higher Order of Politics Needed

The numerous and acrimonious controversies that have taken place between high officials in Alabama during the past two or three years in most of which the governor has been one of the parties are a disgrace to the state and cannot be placed in a bad light in the eyes of the world. Very well we are in need of a higher order of politics. —Tulsa Springs Herald

The extent to which the modern child is educated in matters of hygiene appears from a report made in a Boston school says the Youth's Companion.

The class had visited the art museum and the teacher wished to know what the children had observed and how they were impressed. The subject at the moment was the exhibits of the Apollo, one of the chief treasures of the museum. A little boy who had been waving his hand was called upon. He announced to the class:

"I don't see him side his. Why?" he exclaimed. "I don't see him side his. Why?" he exclaimed. "I don't see him side his. Why?" he exclaimed.

OF SHORTHAND AND ACCOUNTING

ALABAMA'S BEST BUSINESS COLLEGE

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

Business education is a benefactor to mankind, and is indispensable in this age to the world of business.

It prepares more men and women to support themselves, to play their respective parts in the great drama of life than the schools of law or medicine, of engineering or of any other technical school or department of education.

A business education is an asset beyond value. It is an equipment for life's work. It gives the power to earn, and to give value for value received. It destroys poverty and enthroned prosperity. It dignifies character, inspires ambition and adds lustre to human virtue. For it is the function of the business school to equip its students for the active duties of business life not only as they pertain to accounting and finance, and to commercial office work, but also to the financial and ethical management of all lines of business.

And its curriculum is more wisely devised to accomplish this result than that of any other class of schools. By its shorthand and type writing, good penmanship, spelling, grammar, billing and letter writing, the service worth of a young man or woman is increased many fold. Its practical arithmetic, when properly given, is superior to calculation in commercial affairs. Its ethical teaching and its laws of business dealing, contracts, rights and obligations, commercial paper, agency, partnership, corporations, trusts, etc., which govern all transactions of trade throughout the empire of business, are indispensable to every man, whatever may be his vocation or profession. Its bookkeeping or accounting work whose debit and credit laws hold in harmonious revolution the financial values of the world, constitutes an educational crown that should be worn by every man, of every occupation in the land.

This accounting knowledge is to the business man what a knowledge of navigation is to the mariner. He is not a safe navigator who does not know at all times the latitude and longitude of his ship. And he is not a safe business man who does not know his debit and credit, his resources and liability, his loss and gain, and his capital of insolvency.

standing. This knowledge is not inherent in man and cannot be demonstrated by any amount of rote blood by a knowledge of the sciences of the languages, of history or psychology of law, or of medicine. nor can it be determined by any equation of relationship nor by any play or infinite quantity of genius skill and subtleties in the realms of modern politics. It can be possessed only by a knowledge of accounting, which it is the special function of business schools to impart.

By accounting, knowledge the business man is better prepared to direct and manage his business and to avoid the shoals of misfortune the rocks of bankruptcy and the financial cyclones that periodically pass over the country destroying millions of value. For the want of this knowledge the mercantile agencies tell us is to be credited a large per cent of the failures in the world of business. Consider, facts the great usefulness and importance of business schools is no longer a question.

Lauded by unknown people. W. D. H. Black, merchant 719 S. THE ALL STEEL MONARCH STUMP PULLER IS GIVEN PREFERENCE OVER ANY OTHER MACHINE ON THE MARKET.

Mrs. J. W. Adams, Dothan, Alabama.

I. D. Williamson, Dothan, Alabama.

We have your favor of the 14th and thank you for same. I have not a single one of the 12 you left here since you were here and don't know just what was in the outfit. We see from your letter just what we are to figure that this would be about what we need to do our work with. We have decided to use your machine and are placing our order for eight outfits and several stump pullers. Will want you to come down and get our gang straight with them. Thanking you we are,

Respectfully,
BLACKSHAW STORE COMPANY,
By T. C. Blackshaw.

In regard to the above firm wish to say that they have been in operation for several years in the Southwest portion of the State and have several large farms and are applying the same conservative business methods to their farms as they do to their other business and of course had to come to the conclusion that to make their farming business profitable they would have to stump their land and after some time so called stump pullers tried out they had decided that dynamite was the only way so they bought about two thousand dollars worth of dynamite last fall and had started in to stump their land.

Heard of them for the first time last February and of course went to see them at once. I met Mr. Blackshaw and told him my business. He at once informed me that I was wasting time with him as he had already seen what was claimed to be the best stump puller on the market and his neighbor had set his aside, and had gone to buying and burning his stumps.

I told him that the machine I was selling—The All Steel Monarch Steel Monarch—was not to be compared with anything he had seen and finally I induced Mr. Blackshaw to furnish a team and men to demonstrate one of these machines on his stumps. That was last February and I did not sell him anything at that time. He said that he would have to make a thorough investigation before he bought anything and when he did buy he wanted to be sure that he was getting the best. Now we have his order for eight outfits besides the one I demonstrated to him. He has taken all this time making a thorough investigation and has bought one or two other very much advertised stump pullers and given them a try out. I am sure that if you will enclose a stamp that he will tell you what machines he has tried. IS THIS NOT PROOF ENOUGH?

Get you an All Steel Monarch and have the best stump puller that money can buy and of course, you will agree that the best is always the cheapest.

If you are interested let us put this pulley up on your farm and show you what it will do. If we cannot show you that it is the best and cheapest puller you can buy, we don't want to sell you.

"Clincher" Paint

We know a paint which holds to the wood like a driven nail. Secured from the pores. The pores are the empty sap cells. White lead paint which dries on the wood in the form of a solid crust film fastens into the pores and the whole coat of paint is actually riveted like armor-plate to the surface. It decorates and protects.

Collier White Lead

(Dutch Boy Painter Trade Mark)

and Pure Linseed Oil

make the paint that spreads into a solid body. It becomes a part of the wood itself—an outer layer that preserves the life of the lumber. We sell it as well as other painting requisites. Come in and have a talk with us about painting.

That would interest husbands especially if they had doctors till we had lost the family.

CORRECT DRESS FOR WOMEN

President of General Federation in Knoxville —

Mrs. Percy V. Pennbacker, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, arrived in the city this morning and is stopping at the Newsum Hotel.

Mrs. Pennbacker was met at the train by Mrs. Geo. W. Denny and Mrs. J. H. Anderson. She was taken at once to the exposition grounds where she remained until about 6 o'clock.

When seen at the Hotel Atkin later in the evening Mrs. Pennbacker said that she was surprised and delighted at the beauty and magnitude of the Conservation Exposition. "I think it is a wonderful thing for a city the size of Knoxville to make such a beautiful reality," she added.

This is an exposition with real live ideas back of it, said Mrs. Pennbacker. "and conservation is one of the most worth while ideas of the time. Your city and exposition officials are to be congratulated. I sincerely recall a more delightful electrical effect than your exposition after the lights are turned on."

Mrs. Pennbacker was two times from her long journey (she came all the way from Buffalo to speak at the exposition) to give an interview upon any of the various subjects proposed for her discussion.

The high executive officer in women's clubdom, Mrs. Pennbacker, is in Knoxville as the special guest of exposition officials and the club women of the city and state. She is the first president to pay a visit to Knoxville.

The feature of her local stay will be an address to be given this afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the large auditorium at the exposition, to which the public is invited. The subject of the address is "Some Dangers That Threaten the American Home." The speaker will be introduced by Mrs. Geo. W. Denny, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. W. A. Knabe will give the address of welcome on behalf of the local club women.

Prior to the address a club women's luncheon will be given in honor of Mrs. Pennbacker at the Van Wright Inn. This affair will be given at 1 o'clock, and club women from all over East Tennessee will be present. Covers will be laid for more than 100 guests.

TOMORROW'S BRIDGE.

There's a stream of trouble across my path,
It is black and deep and wide,
Bitter the hour the future hath
When I cross its swelling tide,
But I smile and sing and say
"I will hope and trust away,
I'll bear the sorrow that comes to-morrow,
But I'll borrow none today."

Tomorrow's bridge is a crazy thing
I dare not cross it now,
I can see its timbers away and
and swing,
And its arches reel and bow
O heart, you must hope away,
You must sing and trust and say:
"I'll bear the sorrow that comes tomorrow,

But I'll borrow none today

SOME MORE SOCIETY PREMONITION.

So often we sit thus long evenings
through,
Spending hours of dream and silence
from a store
Of hopes and memories and love
so vast,
No want we know, no further boon

Yet sometimes while in twilight
revery
We draw tomorrow's strength from love at rest,
All suddenly I dream your face
grows pale,

Remote as of some strange, celestial

Then to my brooding heart fear
breathes, mark well
This friendly hour this dear, to

For change will be guard lest its
